MANAGER H. C. MINER FIRST RESPONDED TO HER PITIFUL APPEAL.

And So He Will Supply the Artificial Eye—But a Half Dozen Other Generous Readers Were Anxious to Help Her—The Poor Girl Is Very Grateful and Will Be Able Now to Obtain Employment.

The readers of THE EVENING WORLD responded with characteristic promptness and generosity to the appeal of poor Mary Jones. On Monday evening the following letter was published:

Before noon yesterday six letters had been received offering to give the unfortunate girl the assistance for which she asked, and the result is that within a very short time Mary will have one of the best artificial eyes that can be procured in this or any other country.

Four of the letters were sent to THE EVENING WORLD office and two were received by Mary herself.

The first one that came in was from Manager Harry C. Miner, of the People's Theatre, and according to the order of precedence he will furnish the eye. His letter was as follows:

My DEAR EDITOR: Enclosed please find order for one artificial eye from the leading optician of this country who will furnish a good one.

The order was upon Prof. H. C. Davis, of 127 East Fifth street.

Prof. Davis himself responds. "Curiously enough in the very next mail was the following letter from Prof. Davis himself."

Well, that is a funny coincidence," he remarked. "But I am not much surprised. It is just like him to do that sort of a thing, and he ought to get all the credit for good deeds. I am very glad to see that you and we see a great deal of each other. But between you and me, I won't change Mr. Miner's card, and the poor girl shall have the best that can be done for her with it."

Prof. Davis added that he would be of town to-day, and made an appointment for to-morrow, when the patient will be examined and temporary glasses being made and fitted properly. It was learned incidentally that the Professor's usual charges for making artificial eyes are from $25 to $50. He said that he had been asked to make a pair of eyes for a poor fellow who had lost his sight with a stone, and that he had refused to do so, as he would not take a cent for such a case.

MARY FEELS GRATEFUL. Poor Mary was overjoyed when she learned the success of her appeal to THE EVENING WORLD.

"Oh, I'm so glad," she said to the reporter, who called at the house where she is staying, "I feel as if I ought to thank you, and I feel as if I ought to thank you, and I feel as if I ought to thank you."

She is an orphan and has no friends except her present mistress, with whom she has lived the greater part of the time since she took her from Randall's Island six years ago.

Mrs. Quantrell told the reporter that Mary was a hard working and most deserving girl. She had taken her in again since she had lost her last situation, and would give her a home till she got another, but she could not afford to pay her wages, as she had other servants.

OTHER WOULD-BE SAMARITANS. Here are the other responses that were received from our philanthropic readers:

With it possible, furnish you with an artificial eye. Please present this. Respectfully yours, Myron D. Biss, Optician, 295 and 297 Fourth avenue.

A PARK BOY PHILANTHROPIST. Miss Mary Jones.

Dear MAM: We read in THE EVENING WORLD of the case of a poor girl who had lost her eyes. We are willing to furnish this deserving girl with a proper-fitting eye, if you will.

OFFERS OF ASSISTANCE were also received from Miss M. Eisner, 322 East Fourteenth street, and "H. H." The latter inclosed some money, which will be returned if "H. H." will kindly send full address.

ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF ABDUCTION. Gustave Gambardetta was running a boarding-house with Victor Bonboni.

NEWBURGH, N. Y., Jan. 23.—A fine appearing Italian, giving his name as Gustave Gambardetta, was arrested here this morning charged with abduction.

The girl he was with gave her name as Victor Bonboni, aged seventeen. Gambardetta says he left a wife in New York six weeks ago because of quarrels. He went to Montgomery and started a boarding-house for railroad employees, and Victor Bonboni came as a girl to work for him.

Mrs. Gambardetta learned of her husband's whereabouts and put in an appearance. She had a warrant for his arrest issued and Gambardetta and Bonboni came to Newburgh. They have been living as man and wife in the upper ward of the city.

Gambardetta had a roll of bills containing many hundreds of dollars, which he gave to the girl when arrested. Victor says he did not abduct her. The man will be sent to Montgomery for hearing to-day.

It is understood he is wanted in New York on a similar charge.

KNIGHTS ORDER A LOCKOUT. There may be further trouble between the Oregon Improvement Miners.

SEATTLE, W. T., Jan. 23.—A general lockout at the mines of the Oregon Improvement Company, to force the Company to disarm the Miners' Union, has been ordered by the Knights of Labor.

The Knights charge the Company with furnishing rifles to the Miners' Union. Bloodshed is expected at any moment.

Sheriff Cochran has wired Gov. Seiple to come and investigate. The Oregon Improvement Company has a force of railroad detectives and deputy marshals in readiness.

Two of the miners closed down. The Post-Intelligencer this morning published a letter from Supt. McNeil, of the Oregon Improvement Company's mine concession to the K. of L., in which the Company reconsiders the original intention to refuse employment to Knights.

The company will make no further discrimination. This will probably induce the miners to disarm.

CHARGED WITH DEFRAUDING HIS WARD. John H. Prescott, of Lawrence, Locked Up—Held for the Grand Jury.

LAWRENCE, Mass., Jan. 23.—Much excitement prevails in this city regarding the arrest of John H. Prescott, a leading business man, charged with embezzling $7,000 belonging to the heirs of Elbridge Jewell, who were placed under his guardianship.

In the Police Court this morning, Prescott, who had been unable to obtain bail, having been in the station-house all night, was arraigned, waived examination and was held for the Grand Jury in the sum of $5,000.

EXPLANATIONS

What the Aldermen Say of Their Weird Voting Yesterday.

They Deny That They Have Formed Any "Combine."

Alderman Walker Casts Reflections on the Committee on Bridges and Tunnels.

A Meeting of the Dock Committee Called for 1 P. M. To-Morrow.

The action of the Board of Aldermen in relation to the petition of the New York and Long Island Railroad Company, to tunnel under the East River and this city, has raised a storm of indignation and aroused a strong suspicion of the formation of a "combine" in the new Board.

A similar petition was presented just a year ago, and charges that such a "combine" had been formed then were freely made on the floor of the Council Chamber, and were substantiated by Gen. Roy Stone, the President of the company, who said that he had been approached by a person claiming to represent a certain number of voters in the Board, who desired to know how much the franchise asked for was worth in money.

At that time the matter was even called to the attention of District-Attorney Fellows by Alderman Conkling.

Under such circumstances the action of fifteen members of the new Board in persisting on a reference of the renewed petition to the Committee on Docks instead of to the Committee on Bridges and Tunnels, naturally caused remark.

"These Aldermen were inclined to treat the matter very lightly this morning and one, Alderman Walker, even characterized it as a joke," he said.

"I have always been consistently opposed to granting this franchise. I think it would be greatly to the disadvantage of the city."

"Why, we had intended to refer the bill to the Committee on Bridges and Tunnels, but we did not want to place it in the hands of our friends."

"Of course, if it had been referred to that Committee and had been reported favorably, we would have referred it to the Committee on Docks, but we did not want to place it in the hands of our friends."

Alderman Sullivan, on whose motion the reference was made, said: "If an Alderman does what is right he gets the D. I., and if he doesn't he gets it. What is he going to do?"

"I was against building up Long Island at the expense of New York and transferring the shipping of this harbor to Montauk last year, and I am still opposed to it."

"There is no earthly reason why the men on the Dock Committee can't consider and report on this petition as well as those on any other."

"So far as a 'combine' is concerned, I know of none."

Alderman Noonan, the new representative from the Fourth District, who voted with the minority, smilingly said: "Well, I was on the right side this time."

Alderman Butler, when asked about the action of the minority, said: "Combine? There is none, or, if there is, I know nothing about it. I have always been against this tunnel scheme, and shall always be. As to the reference of the petition, there are just as good men on the Dock Committee as on any other."

HE SAYS SHE'S NOT HIS WIFE.

MR. WILLIAM ELLINGER PRINTS A WARNING TO THE PUBLIC.

He Refuses to Pay any Bills Contracted by a Lady Who Calls Herself by His Name—The Latter Insists that She Is His Wife and that They Were Legally Married—Her Lawyer Says So, Too.

WARNING.—The woman who lives at 129 West 53d st. and passes under the name of Mrs. William Ellinger, should be very wise, an impostor who is not that Mrs. Ellinger, and is not responsible for her debts or obligations. William Ellinger.

The above notice was printed in this morning's World, and behind it is a very interesting story.

William Ellinger, whose signature is attached to the above, is a wealthy man. He owns a large cattle ranch at Springville, Ark. He is also said to own property in this city and Brooklyn. At present he is in Florida.

The lady referred to in the notice, and who Mr. Ellinger says is Miss Agnes T. Cunningham, and likewise an impostor, was seen by an EVENING WORLD reporter at the above address this morning. She is known there as Mrs. Ellinger.

She is a slight, trim-built woman of twenty-eight years. She is rather pretty, and has a pair of expressive brown eyes that peep out from under a head of jet black hair. At present she is dressing make.

The reporter showed the advertisement and asked for an explanation.

"Oh, I'm so glad you have shown me this. Is he in the city? Where did you get it?" She grew quite excited over the slip, but when she calmed down she said:

"It is a sad story for me to tell and I really don't know how to commence. I am not an impostor, but the lawful wife of William Ellinger. Everybody here knows me as Mrs. Ellinger and that is my lawful name."

"They say you do this advertisement to get money," asked the reporter. "Where is your husband?"

"I have not seen him for two years. I don't know where he is. He deserted me and left me with my little baby to starve."

"I was married to him in November, 1886, at 179 West Forty-seventh street. He did not live with me after the marriage, but he visited me from time to time."

"He suffered the torments of the damned, he deserted me and I have never heard anything from him since."

"He was a barley and malt commission broker and had an office at 19 West 14th street. I called there repeatedly, but could never see him."

Seven months after my marriage, my baby, a boy, was born. I named him Claude. I notified my husband through his lawyers, but received only an insulting letter, which so affected me that I was unable to nurse my child any longer."

"In vain I tried to get him to come to me, but he would not. Baby lived four months and then died."

"Did he ever send you money for you or the baby?"

SHOT HIMSELF, TOO.

The Man Who Killed Theodore Wahl Attempts Suicide.

A Mystery of Yesterday Is Strangely Cleared Up To-Day.

Paul Tabor Was the Unknown Man with the New Pistol.

Theodore Wahl, the janitor of an Allen street tenement-house, who was shot in the abdomen yesterday afternoon in Seventh street, died at the Ledge and Association Hospital at 3.30 this morning.

Just before he died Wahl said to Dr. Beck, the surgeon at the hospital:

"Don't you know? It was my friend who shot me! The cigar-maker. He had a new pistol and he was showing it to me. It was an accident."

Wahl and the stranger were together in South's saloon at 56 First avenue during the fore part of yesterday afternoon. They drank a great deal of beer and grew very talkative. There was some incoherent talk, in which the words "pistol," "woman," and "shoot" occurred.

At about 2.50 these boon companions left the place. At 3 o'clock they turned up at the carpenter shop of William Schoedel, located at the extreme end of an area which is fronted by a row of rear tenements and is called Seventh street place.

To reach it one must pass in from 185 Seventh street through a long archway, and there had been no sign visible in Seventh street.

The visitors must have known of the location of Schoedel's shop, yet Schoedel and his assistant, Albert Haken, declare that neither of them ever saw either of the callers before.

The stranger wanted a set of strips of white wood made for his cigar-making bench. They were to be made on the upper end of his machine.

While the two carpenters were busy at their work they heard the report of a pistol and one of the men said: "I am shot."

The other said: "He was talking pleasantly together near the door a few feet away."

The other asked what he should do and Haken told him to take his wounded friend to a hospital, whereupon the two left the shop.

Haken says the man who ordered the strips was a tall, spare man, perhaps thirty-two years of age, with red hair, a big, red mustache and a red beard hanging down on his bosom about six inches. He wore an overcoat with a brown velvet collar and a black derby hat.

A little later Wahl staggered into the Lodge and Association Hospital and sank into a chair faint from the loss of blood.

He was not to be found until shortly after noon, when Paul Tabor, a cigar-maker living at 400 East Fifty-second street, was found in the bathroom with a pistol wound in his forehead.

Reside him on the floor was a bullock revolver. The wounded man was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital, where he received a little, and in answer to a question said:

THE GUILLOTINE AT WORK.

THREE MORE HEADS FALL INTO APPRAISER STEARNS'S BASKET.

Assistant Appraiser Sturgis, Examiner Hamlin and Foreman Myers Hear Their Fate from Washington—Alleged Irregularities in Sumatra Tobacco Imports in the Tenth Division.

Acting Appraiser Stearns trotted out the official guillotine again this morning and three more heads dropped into the basket, making an even dozen in all during the past twenty-four hours.

The new victims are Assistant Appraiser S. J. Sturgis, who is at the head of the tenth division; Examiner George C. Hamlin, one of his subordinates, and Meyer Meyers, foreman of openers and packers, Class A.

Mr. Stearns received the confirmation of his recommendations in his early morning mail from Acting Secretary of the Treasury Thompson at Washington, and he immediately sent to the doomed men the formal notice that their services would no longer be required. No reasons were given and no charges were made. They were simply told to go.

It has been understood for some time past that the recent investigations of the special Treasury agents had disclosed irregularities in the Tenth Division, which is the tobacco, opium and sugar district, and that the alleged irregularities in Sumatra tobacco imports in the Tenth Division.

Assistant Appraiser Sturgis has been quite free in expressing his opinion in regard to the rumored charges against him, and he has been very careful to say whether he was removed or not, but if he should be dismissed he would know the reason why. He proposes to make a fight over his removal and compel the Department to make specific charges against him.

Although Appraiser Stearns says that these but confirmations complete the list of recommendations, the entire department was in a ferment this morning over the new removals. As the dismissed men are all old timers and there are about one hundred and twelve of the same class left at the public stores, a general cleaning out is anticipated within the few weeks that remain to the present administration.

Recommendations against the Appraiser are being made, but he is not to be paid any attention. He says he is only discharging most of the men because the office is overcrowded and they are superfluous.

He is short of experts, however, and any appointments will be made in that direction. He appointed D. Addington Wright, a packer, to the position of foreman left vacant by Meyers's dismissal.

MCAFFREY AND FALLON. The Arrangements Completed for Their Meeting in Hoboken.

All arrangements for the battle encounter between Dominic McCaffrey and Jack Fallon were completed at the Police Gazette office to-day.

The men will box ten rounds, Richard K. Fox's rules, at Cronheim's Theatre, Hoboken, Feb. 8. The winner will receive 75 per cent of the receipts.

Mr. Fox will be referee. Both men will go into training at once.

The first fight was nearly as strong as before he left it while training at Day Bridge a short time ago.

Mr. Fox, of Providence, will challenge the winner to box fifteen rounds for the gate money.

$12,000 FOR THE FIGHT. The Offer of an El Paso Firm Made to Sullivan and Kilrain.

A letter was received to-day by Richard K. Fox from Messrs. Milton, McLean, Bradley & Butterworth, the proprietors of the Baebus House at El Paso, Tex.

Fine Weather and a Large Crowd at Clifton.

Purses Won by King Arthur, Carrie G. and Harwood.

RACE TRACK, CLIFTON, N. J., Jan. 23.—The meeting at Clifton was continued, as usual, with fine weather and a large crowd. Jim Chase handled the flag, and he does very well. Gabe Caldwell was to have left for New Orleans last night, but was too unwell to undertake the journey. He will probably leave to-night.

As to the racing, it was good and exciting and the betting was heavy, especially on the third race. Speedwell was made a slight favorite over Ovid, having been backed by the Brooklyn contingent, led by "Snapper" Garrison, who is part owner of Speedwell.

It was a good race, but Ovid won handsily at the finish. The first race was nothing more than a good gallop for the favorite, King Arthur. Littlefield II was another favorite, but finished second to Carrie G., the second choice.
